L. W. Smith, Water Superintendent, Resigns to Take Temple Position

L. W. Smith, Cameron's city water superintendent, announced his resignation Friday night to become effective June 15. He has accepted a similar position with the Temple Water Department.

In an interview Saturday morning Smith stated that the reason for his resignation here in Cameron and acceptance of the position in Temple was strictly salary. To him, the switch will mean an additional $100 per month plus the fact that, due to the city manager system in Temple, he will have only one man to answer to. Other than the City Manager, he will have complete control of his department.

Smith stated that the transfer has been pending for about three weeks since the resignation of W. J. Weems, Temple Water Superintendent.

Smith had originally asked Temple for 30 days in which to report but, due to the fact that Weems had already left, they could allow him only two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been residents of Cameron since Nov. 15, 1945 when Smith came here as an employee of the privately owned water system. When the system was bought by the city he was retained as City Water Superintendent. He stated that he and Mrs. Smith were leaving Cameron with deepest regret and that they would leave behind many friends acquired during their seven and a half year stay. As yet there has been no announcement as to who will succeed Smith.

Thieves Rob Dusek Pharmacy Of Narcotics, Cash Wednesday Night

Dusek Pharmacy was robbed Wednesday night for the second time in a little over a year.

According to Sheriff Carl C. Black, the thieves were mainly after narcotics. They gained entrance to the building by springing the front door with a pinch-bar.

Black said that no small change was bothered although all currency was taken except one $20 bill which the robbers evidently failed to see.

Black stated that the job had been done by experts. The dial had been knocked from the safe and it had been opened with tools. A medicine cabinet and another safe in the back of the building had also been opened but nothing was bothered in either of these. One drawer was completely missing from the main safe. This drawer contained all of the stronger narcotics kept by the store. Nothing else was bothered. In the way of money, nothing but currency was taken. Although there were a number of checks, they were left alone. The $20 bill which the thieves missed was among these checks.

Black stated Thursday morning that a fingerprint man was on his way to Cameron to check the scene of the robbery.

June Designated As Texas Dairy Month

A state-wide effort to explain the nutritional and economic value of milk and dairy foods was launched in Texas this week, Loy Gandy of San Angelo, state chairman of the 17th annual June Dairy Month in Texas, announced.

Gov. Allan Shivers has officially designated June as Dairy Month, pointing out that the health and economic welfare of all Texans was a subject of continuing grave interest to all in the State of Texas.

"Milk and dairy products are recognized universally as essential to the health of every human being," he said.

"Some 50,000 Texans earn a livelihood from the production, processing, distribution and sale of dairy products with a resultant contribution of $400 million annually to the commerce of Texas."

The average housewife spends more than 15 per cent of her food budget for dairy foods. Just to show how economical dairy products are, 30 per cent of the food consumed in Texas are milk and dairy products. Thus, the housewife gets twice as much food for half the cost.

By spending as little as 15 per cent of the food budget for dairy foods, the housewife can provide her family with three-fourths of its calcium, one half of its riboflavin and substantially large quantities of every important nutrient vital to human development, Gandy said.

The state chairman said it was hoped during the month to impress upon the seven and a half million Texans the importance of keeping dairy foods on the table for every meal not only throughout June, but 365 days of the year.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Herman Yazek

May 25-27. The 135 day session that ended on May 27 was shorter than any session in recent years. A total of 461 bills were passed which number is lower than usual. Eleven constitutional amendments were approved which is the largest number passed at any session. Voters will have the opportunity to approve or disapprove them in November 1954.

Eight water conservation bills were passed which were recommended by the Governor's water conservation committee. One of the bills would cancel water permits that were not used in ten years.

Stipulations in one bill provided that driving while intoxicated on first offense will carry a three day jail sentence unless exonerated by the trial court.

Another bill provided that the economic index under the Gilmer-Aikin school law would be calculated and based on a three year average instead of just on one year. A change of ten percent would be the limit in anyone year regardless of the circumstances.

The auto inspection law was modified over the objection of nearly one-half of the legislators. The present rigid law is not enforced and observances point out that a relaxed law might be accepted by the people.

A 31 member commission was created to study higher education along the same lines as the Gilmer-Aikin committee studied public school systems six years ago.

A law was passed requiring hog feeders feeding commercial garbage to cook it before feeding it to hogs in order to control the hog disease vesicular exanthema. Individuals feeding their own garbage are exempt.

A group of boards and commissions that were not functioning any longer were abolished by a series of bills. The main purpose for repealing such obsolete laws was for removing them from the statute books.

An attempt was made and failed to allow only three cents out of the present four cents state gasoline tax to be refunded to farmers and other non-road users of gasoline. Farm organizations vigorously opposed the bill and the bill died in committee.

Legislation of benefit to veterans was enacted into law by four bills. Two bills would give credit in military service towards retirement for state employees and retirement system for teachers. One included Korean veterans in the veterans' land program. A fourth bill extended to veterans that served or will serve exemption from college tuition and fees.

Motor vehicle legislation included a bill permitting that length of vehicle and house trailer to be fifty-five feet long, an extension of ten feet over the present law. Length of busses was increased from thirty-five to forty feet. Drivers of leased trucks would be required to show lease agreement and have copies of it in their possession.

Most of the legislation passed went into immediate effect upon the approval of the Governor. Bills that did not pass by a record vote, except by a voice vote, will go into effect 90 days after adjournment of the legislature. Out of the 461 bills that passed over 75 percent met none or very little opposition.

Five Civil War Veterans Remained This Memorial Day

Three million men took part in the Civil War 88 years ago, but only five of them were alive to celebrate this Memorial Day. The oldest of these is Walter W. Williams of Franklin, Texas, who celebrated his 110th birthday last November 14. In the June 1 issue of LIFE he and the four other remaining veterans are catalogued in the "Speaking of Pictures" section.

Uncle Walt is the grandfather of Mrs. Gene Blake and Mrs. Gus McLain of Cameron.

He and his wife, Ella Mae, 79, live on a 20-acre farm about 12 miles east of Franklin. His youngest son and his wife reside there, too.

Uncle Walt was a private in Company C, 5th Cavalry, John L. Hood's Texas Brigade, one of Robert E. Lee's favorite outfits. He was a forage master with the task of helping feed the Confederate forces. It took considerable "scrounging," he admits.

He modestly states that he was in only one real fight, an early morning skirmish in which thirty of his company were killed, but he didn't get a scratch.

In his opinion, the South quit "just five minutes too early." He goes on, "It was a wide mistake. Looks like we've always got wars goin' but they don't seem to settle nothin'."

Like many other veterans, Mississippi-born Uncle Walt came to Texas at the close of the war. In 1870 he lived in Calvert for a while. His first wife died there, after mothering seven children.

In 1895 he married a Franklin girl, his present wife. They had twelve children, the youngest when Uncle Walt was 71. Nine of the children are still alive. The oldest is about 76 and the youngest, 32.

Eggs, bacon, coffee, and milk are the staples in Uncle Walt's diet. He sometimes eats eggs three times a day.

In 1948 he had an operation on one of his eyes, in Houston. It was his first and last trip to a hospital. A siege of typhoid fever 10 or 12 years ago left his knees weak, curtailing his favorite hobby—fox hunting. His ambition this year is to go on a plane ride over his former fox hunting territory.

Uncle Walt keeps his hundreds of birthday cards from bygone years tacked to his bedroom wall. He's shooting at the 120th birthday mark, and may make it since his grandfather lived to the age of 119.

Of the five remaining officially recognized veterans, all but one are Confederates. They are Uncle Walt; Home Guardsman William Lundy, 105, of Laurel, Florida; Soldier John Stalling, 106, of Slant, Virginia and Soldier Thomas Riddle, 107, only Confederate

A Little Headwork Saves a Lot of Footwork

"I don't ever aim to give up fishing," Pappy Hayes said one day—"but the older I get the less I like hiking over to Pike's Creek. Guess I'll have to bring the fish nearer to me."

So Pappy got his nephew to bulldoze down about three acres of bottom land. Then he dammed up the little stream there.

He wrote the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, in Washington, and got some "blue gills" and bass to stock it—free. Pappy's idea wound up giving him (and us) just about the best fishing pond in the county ... right in his own back yard.

From where I sit, Pappy may be older than some of us but his mind is active—and open. He's ready to listen to anybody with an idea. That's why he and I can talk on any subject—sometimes about his preference for buttermilk and mine for beer. And though we disagree, we respect each other's opinion. That's neighborliness without a "catch" to it.

USE dieldrin—DDT
... and do it in time!

Growers who have used dieldrin-DDT will tell you it's the top control for bollworms. More important, it kills them before they damage cotton. Be sure you use it at the first sign of bollworm.

EASY TO APPLY... Dieldrin-DDT forms smooth-textured, free-flowing dusts. As a spray, it forms top-creaming emulsions ... eliminates nozzle clogging.

GETS BOLL WEEVIL, TOO... Dieldrin-DDT is a deadly killer of boll weevil. "Do your cotton a good turn

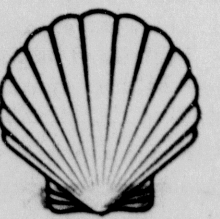

'gainst weevils 'n worms' ... with dieldrin-DDT.

LOW COST... Makes your insecticide dollar work harder because dieldrin-DDT kills all major cotton pests ... not just bollworm. And you can get long-lasting control too, because dieldrin has long residual action.

Get dieldrin-DDT now for your cotton program and stay with it the rest of the season. Your own insecticide dealer can supply dieldrin-DDT formulations. It's a good idea to see him today.

A. A. PARKER GAVE REPORT
ON TEXAS IN 1834

In 1834 A. A. Parker toured Texas gathering material for a book to serve as a guide for immigrants. The book, titled "Trip to the West and Texas," published in 1835, furnishes an interesting bird's-eye view of pre-Revolution Texas.

He entered the province by way of the San Antonio Trace, before reaching San Augustine he saw two race-courses, and the only apple orchard observed in Texas.

At Nacogdoches he found land to be "dog cheap." A Spaniard there had taken a liking to an American's dog. And when asked $100 for it he gave the American four leagues of land for the dog.

Parker noted that "corn is ground in a steel mill, like a coffee mill . . . having a crank on each side. This is commonly nailed to a tree before the door." It amused him to find that corn was often left standing in the field and gathered only as needed. To prepare the grain for food it had to be gathered, ground, kneaded, and baked. He found one grist mill turned by horses.

He reported that the prairies were all burned over twice a year—in mid-summer, and about the first of winter.

On the Brazos flour was selling for $10 a barrel, and in the interior for $14.

He observed that tobacco would grow here, but was too thin a leaf to be valuable. He lamented that the people let the calves run with the cows and seldom had milk. He did not find butter at half the homes he visited, and obtained cheese only once in the province.

He found snakes numerous, in-

Ronald Hudson Is President of South Texas District YMCA

Ronald Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hudson, left for Amos Carter Camp, Fort Worth, Saturday, May 30, to attend a YMCA summer camp.

Ronald, who will be a senior engineering student at A&M College this fall, has been elected president of South Texas District of the YMCA for 1953-54. He is also president of the A&M YMCA for the coming school year. He has been an honor student since he entered A&M in 1950.

Ronald is a member of the Ross Volunteers at A&M. He has served in the honor guard for the inauguration of the Governor of Texas and in honor guard for the queen at festivals such as the Fiesta de San Jacinto at Festival at Beaumont, and the San Antonio, the Neches River Mardi Gras at New Orleans.

cluding the "glass snake, which if you stroke it will break in a number of pieces." One man told him of killing forty-three moccasins in one day. Parker stated that there was a weed "growing all over the country, which is a certain cure for the bite of all these venomous reptiles," but he did not name the weed.

Coffee, he found used in large quantities, but he did not find "hardly a cup of tea in the whole country."

For transportation "baggage wagons are quite numerous, but I found only one pleasure carriage in the whole province, and that was a gig-wagon."

The most prominent fault of the inhabitants, he thought, was being "too fond of pastime and hunting." It appeared to him that the great concern of the people was "how they shall employ themselves to kill time." In the towns "you generally find a billiard room and near it, a race-course."

Regarding cost, he reported that the price of a good serviceable horse ranged from twenty to thirty dollars, a cow with a calf could be bought for ten dollars and a yoke of oxen for about thirty dollars. He saw no copper coins in circulation; and he knew of no bank in the province. He reported one happy financial aspect: "The inhabitants of the country pay no taxes at all."

Parker's account appears that of an unbiased observer. He reported meeting some immigrants returning to the States, resolved to let well enough alone. His advice to the prospective settler was, in effect: Texas is a beautiful, promising country; though it's wild and rugged. But there is plenty of it here if you have the mettle to take it.

Zeke Brod and Wife Relay Emergency Messages by Radio

Zeke Brod, who lives on the Salem Road, is a licensed amateur radio operator and has a station at his home. During the recent Waco and San Angelo disasters, he and his wife were kept busy relaying emergency messages both here and in Waco.

There were three amateur radio stations in operation in Waco right after the tornado. One of them, W5FZB, handled around 480 messages during May 12, the day after the tornado. Brod worked from 8 a. m. till 11 p. m. relaying the queries. Temple radio operators also worked in the Waco stations.

Mrs. Brod, meanwhile, had relayed a message from Cameron to San Angelo and back to Cameron in the short space of two hours. The message was from Mr. and Mrs. Willie Glaser of Cameron to Mrs. Glaser's sister, Mrs. Inglebrock, of San Angelo. The Inglebrocks lived on 41st street, one block from a street of completely demolished houses.

Mrs. Brod called her husband on amateur radio at 4:30 p. m. He relayed the message to a Huntsville station and they, in turn, relayed it to the North Texas Emergency Network. From there it went into San Angelo.

The Glasers had an answer back to their message at 6:30 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Brod left Friday morning for South Texas Emergency Network annual convention in Kerrville. The meeting lasted through Sunday, May 31. This network is one of the largest emergency networks in the world with over 400 members. They operate around the block in emergency situations. This is the third year that Kerrville has been host to the Network convention.

On June 21, a "simulated emergency" meet will be held at the Brods' station sponsored by the American Radio Relay League. The operators will set up their emergency equipment on the Brod place and compete against each other to see how many other stations they can contact during a certain number of periods. They work on the point basis. Last year the Temple Amateur Radio Club, of which Brod is a member, won second place in No. 5 District which includes Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas, and Mississippi.

Mrs. H. C. Watson and Mrs. William Henderson of Waco were visitors this week in the home of Mrs. Henderson's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bradbury. They attended Ann Bradbury's graduation on Monday.

The Little Daily Midget Was 15 Years Old June 3rd., 1953

The Little Midget was 15 years old June 3. In this issue, we have reproduced the first Midget exactly as it was, including mistakes that were made, etc.

The Midget was established June 3, 1939 by J. B. White, publisher and editor of the Cameron Herald. It was originally named The Cameron Daily Herald and was called a midget newspaper. Later the name was changed to the Daily Midget.

The first issues measured only 8 1/2 by 11 inches over all and were printed two pages at a time on a hand fed open job press. As business and the popularity of the paper increased, Mr. White increased the size until at the time of his death in March of 1951, The Midget was four columns wide and 13 inches deep. Since that time, one more column has been added giving its readers still more news. Today, The Midget is printed all four pages at a time on a Babcock Pony Cylinder press at the rate of 1,600 an hour and has gained nation-wide fame as something entirely new and unique in the newspaper field.

invited to complete the excavation.

On a gravel rim several miles in length running from the Santa Fe trestle northeast of the city to the old ranch home of the late Mrs. Lizzie B. Wilson, many Indian village sites have been found. Against this fault line once upon a time an ancient rapid stream flowed. It is believed that the burial found here Friday was one among a number of residents of the village found buried at various times during recent years by workers who were excavating for gravel.

James Foster Weds Friday Evening In Post Ceremony

The recent wedding of James Foster to Miss Betty Huddleston of Grassland was announced Friday. Mr. Foster is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Foster Sr., and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Foster, Jr., of Cameron.

The vows of the double ring ceremony were exchanged Friday, May 22, at 6 p. m. in the Church of Christ, Post, with J. C. Eubanks, minister, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Huddleston of Grassland, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Foster of Wilson.

The altar was flanked by basket arrangements of white gladioli and greenery. Organ recordings offered the traditional wedding marches. "I Love You Truly" was played during the ceremony.

The bride, choosing a navy blue dressmaker suit of sheer gabardine, wore a pastel blue straw hat with matching sheer nylon blouse. Her shoes were of the same shade. Her bouquet was a white orchid with white carnations. She wore an antique ruby ring belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Ray Young, of Post.

Miss Margie Roberts of Grassland, dressed in pastel blue linen fashioned with round collar, three-quarter length sleeves, and bolero, was the maid of honor. She wore navy accessories and carried a bouquet of white split carnations tied with blue maline and ribbon.

Miss Wanda Norman, also of Grassland, was bridesmaid, wearing a costume identical with Miss Roberts.

Wayne Tekell, Tahoka, served as best man, and Charles Fulkerson of Lubbock acted as groomsmen. Ushers, who were not a part of the wedding party, were Garland Huddleston, brother of the bride, and Wiley Curry.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Mrs. Young in Post. Miss Gloria Young registered the guests. Miss Gannelle Babb, Post, and Mrs. Charles Fulkerson, sister of the bridegroom, presided over the refreshment table, which carried out the bride's color scheme of blue and white. The table was laid with a white crocheted cloth over a blue undercloth and centered with an arrangement of the attendants' bouquets and blue candles. The wedding cake of white with blue decorations was topped with a miniature bridal couple.

The couple will be at home at 2220 16th Street in Lubbock.

Home Demonstration Council Postpones June Camp Meeting

The Milam County Home Demonstration Council met Monday, May 25, at Rockdale. Mrs. Hugh Wimberly, chairman, was absent due to illness, so Mrs. Buck Angell served in her place. There were 21 present.

During the business meeting, the Home Demonstration camp was discussed. As there were only a few who could go on June 1 and 2, as had originally been planned, the council is to see if the camp can be held later, probably in August.

THDA plan of work was given out by Chairman, Mrs. Charles. Mrs. Roy Harris distributed information on a "Silver Tea" to be at Tracy school house on Friday, June 12, at 2 p. m. A competent speaker will talk on Constitutional amendments and other important subject.

Mrs. Harris also gave information on the theme of the 1953 Citizenship Crusade—"Good Government is Your Business."

The roll call and minutes were read by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Modest.

The THDA report was given by Mrs. Charles. She announced that the State TDC Convention would be at Galveston on Oct. 1 and 2. Delegates will be elected in July.

Among Mrs. Charles' other remarks were these points: Clubs should receive the MESSENGER four times each year—May, August, October, and January. Valuable information is contained in these issues, she stated. She pointed out that each club can appoint a civil defense chairman.

Work sheets were given out to the clubs to fill out and return to the council.

Each of the clubs was urged to obtain names of the patients at the state school in order that they might receive letters and gifts from the clubs.

The clubs reported on the various things they had done during Home Demonstration Club Week.

Clubs have until August to send $1 per member to the council. Mrs. Floyd Swanzy, council treasurer, reported that seven clubs have already turned theirs in.

Recreation was omitted from the meeting as the recreation leader, Mrs. Glenn, was absent.

Pleasure, Profit Club Officers Are Elected at Luncheon

The Pleasure and Profit Club met in a luncheon meeting at the home of Mrs. Roy Hensley in the Ad Hall community. Twelve members and two guests, Mrs. Wiese and Miss Minnie Atchley who teaches in Clovis, N. M., were present.

Varicolored sweetpeas and other spring flowers were used in the party rooms.

Menu for the cooperative luncheon was chicken spaghetti, green beans, pickled peaches, hot rolls, iced tea, and the choice of angel food cake with strawberries and whipped cream, chiffon cake or pineapple upside down cake.

In the business meeting which followed the luncheon officers for the coming year were elected from the report of the nominating committee. They are: president, Mrs. Richard Moseley; vice-president, Mrs. Leo Jackson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. E. Jones, and reporter-historian, Mrs. Guy Chandler.

Suggestions made by the year book committee were accepted by the group. The topic for the coming year will be "You and Your Community."

The Pleasure and Profit Club will resume its regular meetings in the fall.

Burlington HDC Has Program on 'Growing Old Gracefully'

The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. George Logan. After singing "America" the er, the club motto, and the club creed.

In the absence of the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Dennis Klein the minutes were recorded by Mrs. Lee McCollum.

Mrs. Logan read a letter from the state school at Mexia, and names of patients were handed out to the club members. They each adopted a patient to whom they will write and send gifts.

Recreation was led by the hostess. Winners in the games were Mrs. George Logan and Mrs. Frank Rogers.

Mrs. Floyd Swanzy, who was a delegate to the District Meeting, reported on that session.

Suggestions were made by the members as to what they would like to have in the year book. Mrs. Swanzy will take them to council meeting.

Mrs. Swanzy led the club in a program on "Growing Old Gracefully." Mrs. Logan distributed papers on "How Successfully Are You Aging?"

Ways of making money for the club were discussed. It was decided that the club would give a donation to the Cancer Crusade sometime soon.

Mrs. Logan announced that four of the members quitted a quilt Thursday, May 14, and presented it to Frank Wheeler in Burlington.

The club discussed the camp to be at the Buchanan Dam on June 1 and 2. However, none of the members will be able to go.

The business meeting adjourned at 4 p. m.

A DOUBLE REASON

Your health is doubly safe when it's put into our hands. Each prescription is checked not once... but twice... FIRST, when it's being compounded... SECOND, before it's handed across the counter to you. We have found, through years of experience that precision pays, there being no such thing as a RUSH HOUR where we're concerned. So take no chances with half-way measures... Bring your next prescription here where you may be doubly sure of getting precisely what the doctor has ordered... through our completely competent DOUBLE-CHECKING measures.

"Happy Jack" was their camp treat.

Brownie Troop No. 10, led by Mrs. Sheppard, had 14 members present at the camp. They were known as the "Busy Bees."

The Brownie groups made bracelets and Plaster Paris figurines in their Arts and Crafts work. Troop No. 1 also went for a daily hike.

The 17 girls of Intermediate Troop No. 3 called their campsite "Sombrero Junction." In one day's festivities they wore Mexican costumes. Mrs. J. S. Sheguit, assistant leader, was in charge of the group at camp. Mrs. Pete Micula is the troop leader. Assistants were Mrs. Trdy and Mrs. Zuechy.

Nine girls from Intermediate Troop No. 4 camped on "Chatter Hill." Mrs. C. C. Smith, Jr., is their leader. Mrs. Milton Schiller and Mrs. V. J. Hannon are members of the troop committee.

Both Intermediate troops made lanyard stripping bracelets and completed animal heads, mounted on cedar blocks, as projects during the camp. Each troop did its own cooking.

The Girl Scouts and Mrs. Lester Williams, director of the camp, would like to thank the following firms and individuals for their gifts and assistance during the camp: W. T. Whatley for wholesale groceries; First National Bank for money for Arts and Crafts; Bert Nicholson for Dr. Pepper; the Pepsi-Cola Company in Brenham for drinks; Mr. W. T. Hanes for grounds-cleaning; the water staff, Mrs. J. L. Walker, Miss Martha Black, Miss Ann Hinyard, and Mrs. Herbert Nance; Boy Scouts for their help and instruction; and the Milam County Health Unit for the girls' physical examinations.

Guard Adds Four New Men to Ranks; One Re-enlistment

By Lloyd Albertson

One transfer of a Guardsman from a unit in Taylor, Texas, also will be made into Battery C early next month.

Checks totaling $1,196.54 were received last week by the officers and enlisted men of the Battery for the six extra week-end drills which recently were held by the unit. This amount was for the extra drill periods only, and does not include the regular Armory payroll which will be received by the Guardsmen early in June.

THE LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER THINKS ENGLAND GOT QUEEN CROWNING IDEA FROM READING AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS

Editor's note: The Little River Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm in Marlow takes the cake this week for backwardness, as his letter will reveal.

I've heard it said by statesmen and students of history that the British Empire has been declining and shrinkin in recent years, and while I've got nothing against declinin a n d shrinkin, know lots of folks who've been doin it steady for years, I had not paid much attention to the claim.

In fact, the way England could still manage to swing a loan, regardless of who was in the White House, Democrats or Republicans, led me to believe she was as mighty as ever, but the last few weeks I've begun to have my doubts.

They were brought on by all the excitement and hullabaloo over the crownin of the Queen over there.

Now personally I got nothin against the Queen, looke like one of the most level-headed young ladies I ever heard of, but what worries me about England is it looks like that once mighty empire is runnin out of ideas, at least of original ideas. Now she's copyin after America.

Crownin a queen is all right, it brings a big crowd to London, turns lots of tourists' dollars loose, but thuder the idea has been used so much in this country it's about as novel as a Fourth of July float. In the last few years, a community which ain't crowned some sort of queen was considered queer, almost unorthodox. A picture of some girl getting crownin—doesn't make any difference who by, anybody from the governor to a county commissioner to a president of a chamber of commerce to a newspaper editor seems to be equally skillful at the job, in fact, I guess it's one of the few jobs it takes the least trainin at to reach perfection in that's known to man—as I say, a picture of some girl gettin crownin queen is as common a sight in the papers these days as a bathin beauty or a fugitive from justice.

In the last few years I can personally remember havin seen pictures of girls gettin crownin as bathin beauty queens, black-eyed pea queens, watermelon queens, cantaloupe queens, petroleum queens, wheat queens, rice queens, alfalfa queens, football queens, soil conservation queens, photo queens, better roads queens, in fact, the only two queens I haven't seen pictures of are cumquat queens and blacksmith shop queens, and also Johnson grass queens, and somebody may be workin on them.

England is just running out of new ideas, but it didn't seem to make much difference if she did copy an American idea, the crowds sure swarmed in for the crownin.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Cowboy Evangelist Preaches Monday On Courthouse Lawn

Cowboy Evangelist C. L. Hunter preached Monday night, June 1, in services on the Milam County Courthouse lawn. His subject for the 7:45 p. m. meeting was "From Infidelity to Christ."

Brother Hunter spoke from a jail cell here in Cameron several years ago to illustrate "How God Saved My Buddy in the Eastland County Jail." He states that he was raised in the home of an infidel, knowing nothing about churches or religion until he was grown. Once he had embraced the Christian religion, his father attempted to place him in an insane asylum he relates. Although he was never successful in that attempt, he did manage to have him confined in jail for some time, Brother Hunter says.

The state cancer program is getting results, he stated. He said also that as a veteran physician he gets a first-hand view of the growing tendency toward earlier cancer diagnosis. Prompt attention to the Cancer Danger Signals can save many lives, Dr. Brindley said. The Danger Signals help people get to their doctors early, when there is still time for cure, he said.

NELSONS VISIT HERE

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Nelson and daughter Mary, of Demmit, Texas visited the Herald office recently for a short while. Mr. Nelson is editor and publisher of the Castro County News.

They visited relatives in Rogers and Rosebud before going to Austin where they have a son who received his degree in journalism at the University of Texas last week.

They also have another son who is a junior at the university.

Mrs. Nelson is a Milam County native. Before her marriage, her name was Patzke. She has a number of relatives in the Cross Roads Community. She is also a cousin of Mrs. John Senkel of Cameron.

Sarah Stovall of Rockdale was admitted to the Newton Memorial Hospital on May 27 for medical treatment.

Texas Is $80,000 Short Of Cancer Crusade 1953 Goal

An eleven-hour appeal to put this year's Cancer Crusade over the $600,000 state goal was made Friday by a Texas doctor, himself a staunch volunteer cancer fighter.

The spokesman was Dr. G. V. Brindley of Temple, chief surgeon of the Scott and White Clinic and chairman of the American Cancer Society's Texas Division executive committee.

Dr. Brindley said that so far this spring a total of $520,000 has been contributed to county cancer units in Texas, from all sources.

"The Texas Crusade is far ahead of any previous year, and so close to success that the last effort is of particular importance," according to Dr. Brindley. He said support is needed and that what remains to be raised is very important to Texas, and in the months ahead can help save many lives from cancer.

The state cancer program is
